

HR HEALTH CHECK

Self Assessment for business leaders

Are variation letters issued when changes are made to employment agreements? ie - higher duties, change of hours, reporting lines.

Yes

No

Policies and procedures help to ensure staff and managers know what is expected of them, how to conduct themselves in certain situations, and what happens when rules are not followed. Meaningful policies are relevant and accessible.

How comprehensive do you believe your employment relations policies are within your business?

No policies in place

We have a full,
comprehensive handbook,
which is accessible by staff and kept up to date

Do staff acknowledge their acceptance of policies in writing, and any changes to them?

Yes

No

Are policies consistently followed by staff, and enforced by management?

Policies are rarely adhered to

Policies are always followed, and managers ensure compliance

How well do you feel you know the requirements around probation and qualifying periods, including terminations and extensions?

Not familiar at all

Very comfortable with how to handle probation and their relationship

with qualifying
periods

← PREVIOUS

NEXT →

Created with Agolix